DANIELS SEEKS PRECEDENCE ABROAD

(By Associated Press)
 Washington, Jan. 31.—By direction of Secretary Daniels Rear Admiral Knapp, commanding the American naval forces in European waters is seeking information as to the policy of European governments in the matter of decorations for naval officers whose ships were destroyed by enemy submarines. Mr. Daniels said today he had taken this step because in all probability he would be requested to give this information when he appears next week before the Senate committee investigating the awards. Inquiry by Admiral Knapp as to the policy of the British Admiralty with respect to the commanding officers of cruisers which were sunk by submarines developed Mr. Daniels said, that "no set principle was adhered to but each case judged on its merits."

ASK FOR SWAN-RUSSELL HATS WORN BY WELL-DRESSED MEN

(By Associated Press)
 Burlington, Vt., Jan. 31.—The passengers on the Montreal express of the Rutland railroad, bound from New York and Boston were thrown from their berths into the icy waters early today when three sleeping cars were derailed near the Grand Isle North Hero bridge at Hibbard's Bay. One of the sleepers rolled into Lake Champlain. The escape of its occupants was remarkable but their condition was such that more than a score required treatment. The mercury was at 38 degrees below zero. The passengers were only their night clothing. When Car 92 was derailed it toppled over the embankment and rolled into the lake, breaking through the ice. The car rested upside down and the occupants thrown from their berths quickly found themselves struggling in the freezing waters. There was confusion in the darkness and bitter cold, but a few cool heads kept enough order to permit rescue work.

He seeks to recover the same amount as the others. Samuel Smith of Boston, another representative of the American circulation department, who was also apprehended here, alleges libelous publication on January 19, 1920, in which he is referred to as a suspicious character of the desperado and tramp order. His suit is for the same amount as the others.

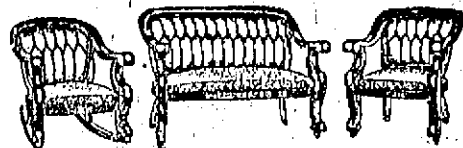

The suits were served today by Deputy United States Marshal Murchie of Concord and are returnable in the U. S. District court at Concord on the 1st Tuesday of April, 1920.

LLOYD GEORGE'S PLAN OPPOSED

Irish Sentiment Against It Says Henderson.

London, Jan. 30.—Ireland is almost universally opposed to the home rule proposition recently advanced by Premier Lloyd George regarding his proposals with little short of contempt, according to Arthur Henderson, the labor leader, speaking on his return from Ireland with the labor party delegation which made a ten days tour of inspection and inquiry. The desire for an independent republic was widespread and frankly expressed, Mr. Henderson said.

Reputation of any connection with the Irish Nationalist party marked an address by William Adamson, head of the parliamentary labor delegation which has been visiting Ireland during a meeting at Belfast on Wednesday, according to reports. Mr. Adamson made his statement in reply to questions by a delegation representing the principal trades unions of that city.

Mr. Adamson on behalf of the delegates subsequently issued a statement that whatever solution of the Irish problem might be proposed by the delegates would receive the assent of the labor party as a whole, not merely that of its parliamentary members. The delegates' report will probably be issued within a fortnight.

Some critics assert that the delegation's visit to Ireland was proposed because the labor party was convinced it was imperative that the Irish question must be definitely settled in some way before the party attempts to form a ministry.

THE NEED OF THE HOUR

The dominant need of the moment—the husbanding and careful distribution of American credit for the reconstruction necessities of the world—is emphasized in the issue of January 29 of "American Goods and Foreign Markets," the semi-monthly review of the Guaranty Trust Company.

This need, says the review, is thrown into sharp relief by the recent action by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in raising the rediscount rate on commercial paper to 6 per cent, the heavy over-subscription of the $25,000,000 Belgian loan, further marked declines in foreign exchange, and the bid for North American capital made by the Latin-American countries at the second Pan-American Financial Conference. The review goes on:

"Banks have taken the lead in helping to curtail the use of credit for merely speculative purposes, and are exerting every effort to strengthen their reserves. During the week ending January 16, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York borrowed no less than 70-1-2 million dollars from other Reserve Banks in the system. As a result it was able to maintain its reserves above the legal limit. In other words, the whole reserve system is meeting the test of a serious situation with smoothness and efficiency. With it stands the decision of the New York Clearing House Banks to limit to 2-1-4 per cent the interest that will be paid on deposits made with them by other banks. This, too, will certainly tend to increase the mobility of available banking resources, and favor the operations of productive industry and commerce.

The Money Market and Foreign Trade. "All of these decisions and actions will have a strong indirect influence on the extension of American trade in foreign markets. Nothing is more essential to restoring a normal balance of trade between America and foreign countries, and thereby the normal stability of foreign exchange, than the continued power of the United States to lend to foreign countries and customers. The double subscription to the Belgian loan only emphasized this. The American investing public showed its complete confidence in the ultimate restoration of Belgium industry and commerce, and likewise indicated its ever growing readiness to invest heavily in foreign markets. But disposition is not enough. The actual funds or credit must be available. They must not be wasted in mere speculative activity. This is the central meaning of most of the financial events of the last fortnight.

The Latin-American Field. "The entry of Latin America into the field as a prospective borrower, only adds completeness to the picture. Our attention has been centered chiefly on European needs and prospects, with the expanding prospect in Asia as a rather alluring background. Now our most immediate neighbors have placed before us their programs of new construction and internal improvements of all sorts. These countries in the past have looked largely to Europe for funds. Heavy investment of British and German funds in Latin America, followed by close shipping relations, and the establishment of large buying markets for British and German goods, constituted very effectively the immediate result of organized investment. But European credit facilities are now strained to the limit by domestic needs. If the United States conserves its credit resources carefully, it will be able to take advantage of the needs of Latin America, to extend and improve shipping facilities, as the Latin themselves request, and to build on this foundation the substantial trade which the quality of our manufactures merits. Here as elsewhere the task is to maintain in New York a free gold market, and within the limits of good banking practice, a free credit market.

Combining for Foreign Trade. "A more detailed but equally essential demand of the present situation is the adequate combination of American exporters for effectively selling in foreign markets. The Webb-Pomeroy law has released this country from previous legal restrictions, and made possible forms of combination which are as effective as those hitherto adopted in Germany, England, and elsewhere. More than one hundred organizations of American exporters have filed papers with the Federal Trade Commission since the passage of the Webb law, indicating their intention of combining in this way. They will achieve a double result. First, they will be able to compete with European selling organizations in Latin America, the Far East, and other outside markets. Second, they will be able to oppose a united front to all attempts of European buying combinations to depress American export prices through playing one American concern against another."

'SOVIET ARKS' NOT FAVORED

Reds to Be Deported in Small Groups.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Explaining that the bureau of immigration had under consideration plans for sending undesirable out of the country in the future in small detachments, Commissioner General Caminetti said today it was probable that no more "Soviet Arks" similar to the Bedford would leave the United States.

Aliens ordered deported, the commissioner explained, must be sent to the countries from which they came to the United States. It is found less expensive to send the many radicals recently arrested out of the country in small groups aboard regular passenger ships. Mr. Caminetti said such a course would be followed.

Deportation by the small group method is going on constantly, the commissioner asserted that since last June a total of 1400 aliens have been sent from the U. S.

Answers to these questions will be given Monday night.

SOMERVILLE MAN IS ELECTROCUTED

Hanover, Jan. 31.—While working alone on a machine in the E. J. Clapp rubber works in South Hanover Friday, James Ahearn, 40 and unmarried, was electrocuted.

He had thrown on the switch to start the machine, and then in some inexplorable way was in contact with the electric current. He was found a short time later unconscious on the floor and died within a few minutes.

He came here from Somerville a few months ago.

BIG AIR FIGHT TO OPEN NEXT WAR

Will Be Off Our Coast, As serts Wadsworth, Plea- ding for Aviation Bill.

Washington, Jan. 30.—"The first or the second day of the next great war emergency this nation faces will be marked by a great air battle off our coast," said Chairman Wadsworth of the military committee, defending the new bill to create a separate department of the air. "I am as sure of that as I am that I am standing here."

"It is our way to wait until emergency overtakes us, but we have spent twenty-six billions and thousands of wasted lives in the past two years to find out how expensive our way can be."

The bill encountered further vigorous opposition in the senate today, Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, leading the attack against the measure on the ground of extravagance.

In his attack on the bill Senator Borah declared there was "not the slightest evidence" that congress proposed to carry out the "special promise" of the republican party to reduce government expenditures.

"A platform committee of 157 varieties has been created. I want to remind members on this side of the chamber that this congress will make the platform with its record here. The gifted gentlemen who are to give us the platform must convince the people against the record being made here."

Republicans and democrats should join hands, the senator declared, and begin to carry out the promise that when the war was over government expenditures would be cut to the bone.

Senator Hitchcock, acting democratic leader, opposed the bill as an extravagant attempt to create a "jack of all trades department of the government," which he said, would only multiply the present confusion over air service control.

New York, Jan. 30.—Col. Henry P. (H.) Henry, whose industrial show toured the country in a special train forty years ago, died at his home here today in his 76th year. He was a Civil war veteran and is survived by his wife.

Henry, known throughout his theatrical life as "H. Henry" was born in Buffalo, a lineal descendant of Patrick Henry of Revolutionary fame. He studied music from early youth and went on the stage at the age of 22.

In 1873 he became proprietor and manager of the Brooklyn Park Theatre Company, closing out after two years of remarkable prosperity, at the time of the great Black Friday panic. He became identified with minstrelsy in 1875 as solo cornetist and bandmaster and won recognition as one of the foremost soloists of the day. In 1879 Mr. Henry organized his famous Premium Minstrels. In 1880-90 he organized the Estelle Clayton attraction, and in the same season became president of the Enterprise Show Printing Company and divided his time thereafter between printing and the management of minstrels.

SPEEDING UP TRIAL OF SOCIALISTS

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 30.—The second week of the trial of the five socialist assemblymen, ended tonight with counsel for the judiciary committee unable to state when the committee's case would be presented. The committee speeded up the hearing today when it was rumored that a fifth attempt would be made on Monday evening in the Lower House of the Assembly to rescind the five socialist and discharge the committee and that Col. Theodore Roosevelt would lead the movement, but Col. Roosevelt would not discuss the matter.

CURRIERS BROUGHT OUT SOVIET FUNDS

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Jan. 30.—How the curriers of Soviet Russia carry funds from Russia to this country, running the gauntlet of capture and even death, was half told by Ludwig Martens before the senate sub-committee today, and abruptly dropped, when he refused to answer further questions about the carrier on the ground of diplomatic immunity. While the matter is being decided he continued his story of how he sought to get recognition for his government from the state department and how he had failed.

TO FORCE TREATY FIGHT IN SENATE

Bipartisan Conference Breaks
Up in a Disagreement.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Jan. 30.—Efforts to break the Peace Treaty deadlock by the bipartisan conference, ended today in a failure, and the democrat leaders at once began preparations to bring the treaty up on the floor of the senate. It was on the long debated Article Ten that the bi-partisan conference ended in dissolution. The end came after Majority Leader Lodge had renewed his refusal to compromise on the Article ten reservations and also rejected the reservation on the subject written by ex-President Taft and presented to the conference by democrats.

Walking out of the conference with the announcement that it was useless to further spend time in the conference the democrats began drafting plans to bring the matter before the Senate. Senator Hitchcock said that he will give notice in the senate tomorrow that he will take up the treaty on Feb. 10 for ratification, but there is considerable debate as to whether his motion will be entertained. Senator Hitchcock proposed to urge the senate to adopt the reservations upon which a compromise have been agreed non and to leave the Article ten and the Monroe doctrine reservations to be debated later. He gave out an account of what the bi-partisan conference had accomplished, but it did not agree with that of Senator Lodge. Mr. Hitchcock said that the compromise and twelve of the fourteen reservations had been tentatively agreed upon, but Senator Lodge named six reservations upon which even a tentative agreement had not been reached.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The new bill to establish a separate department of aviation, received further opposition today from Senator Borah, who declared that it was a needless waste of money. Senator Wadsworth chairman of the Military Committee said that the next war would be ushered in with an air battle off the coast and the United States should prepare for such emergency. Opposition to the measure which would take the department out of the army was voiced by General Pershing in a letter today.

BIG ARMY POSSIBLE IN FIVE YEARS

Washington, Jan. 30.—Mobilization of an organized field army of 2,000,000 men would be possible within five years after passage, the Senate Military Committee said today in its report to the Senate on the measure. The cost would not exceed $500,957,000 annually, it said.

Including the permanent standing army of 298,000 and the citizen army and national guard, as proposed, the measure, through its compulsory military training plan, would permit the mobilization next year of an army of 1,188,000 men. Youths trained would be passed into the citizens' reserve army, and in 1926 the nation's available military strength would be 3,345,000 officers and men; while the cost per man would be reduced from $500 in 1921 to $176 in 1936.

"With the organized personnel shown in 1926," the report said, "it will be possible, after providing for the foreign garrisons and the coast defenses, to mobilize an organized field army of 2,000,000 men, with ample surplus strength to supply replacements and to form new and unexpected organization. This can be done even after a liberal allowance for exemptions on account of industrial requirements."

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF AMERICA?

America stands before the world as a great concrete fact. The war has cast a flood of light upon it. America was not discovered in 1492; it was discovered in 1917 and 1918, by the rest of the world and also by ourselves.

America went to war for an ideal. It sent two million men across the sea and was preparing to send two million more, with other millions still in reserve. It raised billions for war purposes with an ease that amazed the world and generously touched its resources. It gave hundreds of millions for war beneficence. It organized its industrial facilities into a single machine of incredible power. It revealed a spiritual capacity for sympathy, self-sacrifice and exalted loyalty of which we ourselves had never dreamed. The war came to an abrupt end when America had only begun to exert its giant strength, while almost unlimited resources were still in reserve. This was the nation which we saw in the light of a dazzling transfiguration only a few short months ago.

Let us not forget the vision, for already it is becoming apparent that the land of ours is infested with swarms of enemies to every ideal for which America stands. Impudently presuming upon the good-natured tolerance which has been so characteristically American, these vicious agitators have gone to almost unbelievable lengths in their attempts to tear down and to disintegrate. Most amazing of all, they have received the encouragement of various so-called "intellectuals" who have sought to pleasure with a haze of theory and doctrine the stark question of good and evil.

Fellow Americans, let us see these things clearly and simply. Let us make no mistake about the meaning of the present disorder. It is not aimed at the correction of our defects; its fundamental purpose is destruction—destruction of our civilization, destruction of our nation and destruction of our ideals.

Sheep in New England.

For years there have been efforts on the part of legislatures, agricultural societies and agricultural colleges to increase the numbers of sheep on the New England hills, but the success of these efforts has been limited. There may have been some increase in flocks in places, and there is no doubt that substantial improvement has been made in the matter of breeding, yet in spite of all that has been done the sheep industry in New England is far from being what good judges of conditions feel that it ought to be.

Those familiar with conditions in New England know that the pasturage in many part of most of the states is excellent nowhere in the world. The grass on the hills is sweet and nutritious, the water is of the best and climatic conditions are ideal. In the old days sheep were kept on the great majority of farms and were one of the most reliable sources of the farmers' incomes.

But many years ago the flocks began to dwindle and in many sections sheep almost entirely disappeared. Dairying was substituted by most of the farmers who had been interested in sheep, and the raising of mutton and wool sank to small proportions in the East and became a leading industry on the ranches of the West.

Various explanations of this movement have been offered, but the chief reason is claimed to be the damage done by dogs in this part of the country. That this has been great there is no denying. It may not be the sole cause of the decline of the sheep industry in New England, but that it has been a potential factor there is no question.

Under the circumstances there should be widespread interest in the report of a project to establish a sheep ranch on lands of Connecticut and Massachusetts. According to the report a syndicate of New York men has purchased 7,000 acres in Northern Connecticut and the southern part of Berkshire County, Mass. The tract comprises more than 25 farms and will be converted into a sheep ranch.

This business will be on a scale which will enable the owners to employ caretakers to protect the sheep against dogs, thieves and other enemies, and thereby one of the great drawbacks to sheep husbandry will be removed.

The experiment will have to be tried out before judgment can be rendered, but the idea seems practical. From the meadows and some of the fields hay and grain can be procured for winter feeding, while every foot of the pasture land can be utilized during the open season. Most of the lands have been bought at low prices and it would seem that with proper management the enterprise should be successful.

Such projects have been talked of before, and perhaps tried on a small scale, but this is the largest of its kind to be undertaken in this part of the country. Should it prove a success it will not be the last, for there are vast tracts of land in New England that could be bought and put to similar use. In the hill sections there are many run-down and abandoned farms which would make the best of ranges for sheep, and which can be bought for less than the buildings cost.

It would be a good thing for New England and the country if sheep growing on a large scale could be established here, as it is quite liable to be if the enterprise mentioned fulfills the expectations of the men behind it.

Temporary trouble at the power plant put the people of Portsmouth and vicinity in a position to sympathize with those of Salem, Mass., for a short time. It is fashionable to curse the trolley lines when they are in operation, but they are mightily missed when for any reason they are tied up.

In one sense it seems funny to think of workingmen being obliged to file income tax returns, but there have been great changes in the last few years. Wages are higher than they used to be and taxes are more diversified and numerous.

Not much has been heard of late from the open-winter prophets. The weather itself has been doing the talking, and in a way to make itself distinctly understood.

Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts says he has not been and is not a candidate for the presidency. But this does not prevent him from becoming a candidate should sufficient pressure be brought to bear.

It cannot be denied that there is real Bolshevism in America. A Russian was arrested in Massachusetts the other day with a bottle of vodka on his hip.

AM. RAILWAY MAGAZINE ON THE PLUMB PLAN

The hour is at hand when every railroad employee should come to a decision and declare himself on the merits of the Plumb Plan.

Human nature is ever the same. Ever ready for an existing condition is set forth in glowing terms by its associates, while there is an impressive silence concerning the dangers incident to a newly proposed system. It is the old story of choosing between evolution and revolution. The torch of constructive advance is held in the hands of the evolutionist who carefully threads the pathway and casts into the ditch the boulders that impede progress. The revolutionist dynamites everything in sight, the good and the bad, and then despairs at the debris, chaos and ruin he has wrought.

Into every system, political industrial and otherwise, their creep the enemies that mar broadest usefulness. Correction and not destruction, is the answer. The orchardist does not cut down the trees that yield his livelihood, but does wage war upon the harmful insect. Cultivation of the good and extermination of the bad, is the story of civilization's advance and the preservation of every worth-while system of the government and economy.

Common sense would suggest that the railroad employees of the nation would recognize the proven value of private ownership and the disadvantages of the Plumb plan of operation and ownership of the railroads.

Available statistics show that 47 per cent of the railroad securities are held by the savings banks of the country. The great life insurance companies, particularly those with millions of industrial policy holders, have heavily invested in the railroads. An upset or destruction of values would prove a calamity to railroad men and their families whose carefully hoarded dollars are in the savings banks and whose insurance brings peace of the mind because of a profound faith the payment will be made in full upon maturity, or in the hour of deepest sorrow. Thrifty the prosperity of the nation more than any other other industrial system, depends upon the railroads and to tear down or impair their ability to operate along lines of recognized business procedure, spells a hardship, privation and disaster to owners and employees alike.

Government ownership, nationalization and socialistic control are being advocated with signals that warn. Will any railroad workman claim the possibility of employment, opportunities of remuneration and promotion that like ability commands in the private enterprises? French railroad men rebelled because of low wages, and adverse conditions only to find their strength broken at the point of bayonets welded by the soldiers of a government which owns the railroads. Russia sits in the shadow and ashes of an unprecedented ruin imposed by the crack-brained visionaries whose socialistic anarchy threatens the peace of the world.

The heart of the Plumb Plan invites microscopic investigation. Everybody benefits is the promise. The public is assured lower rates and the employees higher pay. Most thinking men would stamp this statement as impossible of achievement. Not a voice has been raised in the country affirming that increased income has resulted in a decreased cost of living.

Search for the colored gentleman in the wood-pile; bring forth the Plumb Plan masterpiece, "The Three Group Control."

The Plumb Plan contains no reward for brains. It proposes to make a triple division of a surplus productivity, which no longer exists, and which could not again be created under this plan. It can only be created under conditions where men of regular ability receive both compensation and authority comparable to that given to men of equal ability in other lines of endeavor.

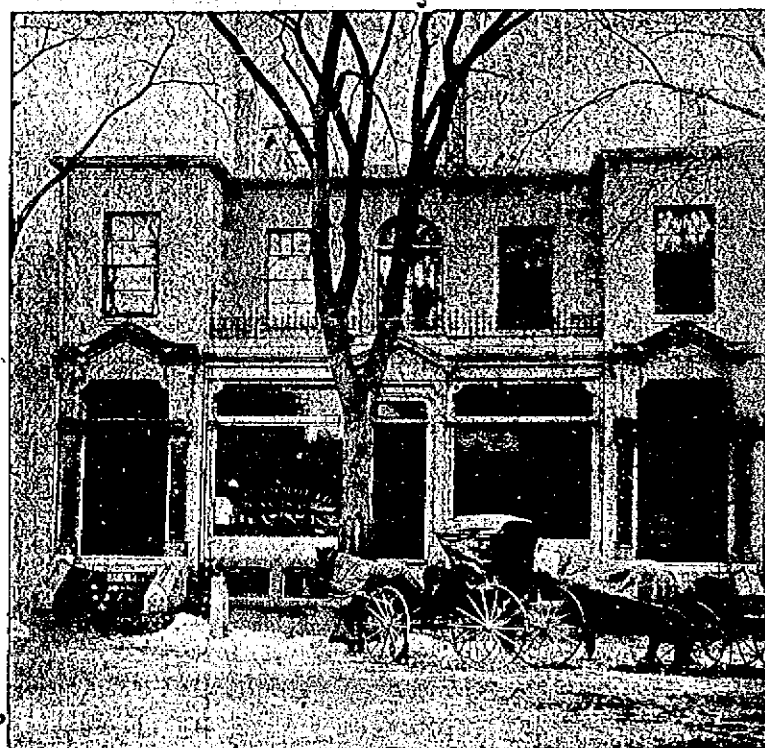

American railroad labor has accomplished much and deserves much, but its present standard of living is just as much the product of the brain and industry of railroad managers as it is of the daily output of labor by railroad employees. They will get nowhere by seeking to ignore this.

If the Plumb Plan were put into effect the only thing which could prevent rates rising and wages falling—just reverse the promises held forth—would be a permanent alliance between the public and the management.

Those of far vision, sensing an ultimate collapse of the scheme, finds its answer written in large letters across the horizon of certainty. A final alignment will weld together the two groups embracing the public and the managers. The managers to hold their jobs will have consolidated with the group representing the public, and the third group, the classified workers, will find themselves wholly at the mercy of the other two and without redress.

The man who thinks straight will weigh carefully the warning signals and not likely kick away the props that give him benefits another system denies.

OLD TIME SCENE OF THE P. A. C. BOYS ON THEIR OUTING

The P. A. C. outing each year has been a feature of that organization. Here is an old timer. Look the picture over and see how many you know and can pick out.

Before you start we will say that the club has only a few of this group on its membership roll today. Some of C. day, but its a safe bet they are few.

He rigs especially the hats, will satisfy you that the picture was not the work of any 1910 camera man.

The scene is on one of the islands in the lower harbor and was one of those days when an outing was a real picnic. Perhaps some of the readers of the Herald might have enjoyed that P. A. C. day, but its a safe bet they are few.

STEALING PRIZE CATS FOR FURS

Winthrop, Me., Jan. 31.—Owners of prize cats are keeping a watchful eye on them these days, as a number have disappeared under suspicious circumstances. It is believed the high prices which are being paid for furs has proved more of a temptation than some Winthrop boys and men can resist and they are killing the cats for the fur. While most of the animals which have disappeared have been cats and angoras, a few exceptionally fine ordinary Toms and Tabs have been reported missing. This indicates that the persons "getting away" with the animals are well posted as to the location of the best stock.

FAREWELL SHOW OF THE NAVAL PRISONERS

The last performance of the Mutual Welfare League Dramatic Company, consisting entirely of naval prisoners from the naval prison at the Portsmouth navy yard, will take place on some date near the middle of February at a local theatre and people from this city and vicinity will avail themselves of the chance to witness a wonderful production.

Although this is the second time that the naval prisoners have been headed in a farewell performance, this is positively the last show as the proceeds from the coming performance will practically complete the fund for which these shows are being given.

The musical burlesque, "Bombastes Furioso," in three acts will make up the greater part of the program. The burlesque is rich in comedy and the music is very well adapted and arranged for this play, which was originally produced as a burlesque in 1830. Much of the music is from former light operas such as "Falala," "The Little Duke," and "Follies by Supper," and there is also to be some original music as well.

A large chorus of courtiers and village maidens, as well as dancers, are to take part in this most remarkable of all naval prison plays, and it is expected this will far surpass, in both comedy and song, anything which these men in grey have every attempted.

The principals of the play were selected carefully and some of the favorites in the past naval prison shows will take leading parts. The musical features of the play are many and varied and among these a "Maypole Dance" and chorus, the "Scandinavian" chorus and the singing chorus which opens the second act are especially clever.

The show will open with the first presentation in Portsmouth of the Living Statues in Alto-Relievo which were originally shown in Manchester on December 11. This is said to far surpass anything of the kind often seen and there is a possibility that the same act may be booked before another season.

The music for the entire production will be a special feature and, as usual, be furnished by the Mutual Welfare League orchestra, augmented by some of its friends from the navy yard and this city. Lieut. Commander Thomas Mott Osborne, U. S. N., R. F., superintendent of the naval prison will lead the orchestra and his untiring efforts have assured the success of the final show.

Rehearsals have been going on for weeks, as after concluding their daily duties the men in grey rehearse daily until late in the evening that the coming show may be perfected—and the hall should be filled the evening they appear in this city.

STECHER DEFEATED CADDOCK

(By Associated Press)
New York, Jan. 30.—Joe Stecher of Dodge City, Kan., tonight won the world's heavy weight wrestling championship by defeating Earl Caddock the soldier wrestler from Omaha. The match which was witnessed by many thousands of people went on for two hours before Caddock was finally pinned by Stecher with his famous body scissors and arm lock.

NO MESSAGES FROM PLANETS

Florence, Jan. 31.—Father Alfani, director of the Kilmorian Observatory in this city, said today that to spread rumors relative to interchange of messages between planets was "absolutely ridiculous."

What has been observed at wireless stations at London and New York, he declared, "has been caused by atmospheric discharges, which have always interfered with radio communication."

He added that William Marconi, inventor of the wireless telegraph system, should "see for himself" the man who interviewed him recently and quoted him as believing that faint signals picked up by wireless stations might come from some sources outside the earth.

CAPT. DETZER IS RELEASED

New York, Jan. 31.—Captain Karl W. Detzer, whose court-martial on charges of cruelty to prisoners at Le Mans, France, where he was in command of a military police company, was completed Thursday, was released Friday by order of Major William F. Kelly, Judge Advocate at Governor's Island, where Detzer has been in custody for several months.

Major Kelly, in his order for the prisoner's release, set forth that the court martial had neither recommended his imprisonment nor dismissal. The verdict will not be disclosed until it has been received in Washington, but officers who have followed the trial closely profess to believe that if Detzer is not acquitted he will escape with a reprimand.

LOSES GLASS EYE IN FIGHT

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Just because Emil Hansen, a carpenter, rapped vigorously on a steam pipe as a notice to his landlord that he desired more heat, Eugene Salvatos, proprietor of the Mid-City hotel, asked a cuspidor at Hansen and knocked out one of his eyes. It was a glass eye as it happened, but Hansen had worn it for 13 years and was much attached to it.

According to the police who were called before the small riot ended, Hansen was using the heel of his boot to beat the radiator pipe when Salvatos sent up three husky bouncers to suppress him. Hansen was giving them a grand run for their money when Salvatos swung on him with a heavy cuspidor, missing up his face and smashing the glass eye. Neither Hansen or his three opponents were complaining of the cold when the police pried them apart.

WOMAN LEAPS TO HER DEATH

Boston, Jan. 31.—Temporarily crazed by the effects of influenza, Mrs. Lida Buchman, 45 years old, of 67 Westland avenue, jumped from her apartment Thursday night to the roof of her dwelling and threw herself to the sidewalk below. She died instantly of a fractured skull.

Edith Buchman, the 20-year-old daughter, told that her mother had been acting strangely since Monday. Early Thursday evening the girl left her mother alone in the house while she went to visit her father, William M. Buchman at his garage, 225 Northampton street. During the absence of the daughter the mother went to the roof and jumped to the street.

The body was removed to the Winterman undertaking room.

TWO FAST BASKETBALL GAMES TONIGHT

Basketball fans will see two good games at Freeman's hall this evening when the Portsmouth professionals line up against the Lowell team, and the Legion girls team will play the fast, New Hampshire College girls team.

The two games are sure to be of great interest for the Lowell team is reported as very fast. They are under the management and are coached by "Buckley" Lew the clever old time basketball player. Lowell is the one city which has always maintained a good professional team since the game was first introduced and there is a lot of good material always on tap in that city. Low is not playing himself, but he will be hero with the team.

The Legion team had their last practice game last night in preparation for their game with New Hampshire College this evening, and Manager Cragen who is coaching them, says they are in fine shape and if the College girls with they will know they have been in a basketball game. The Legion team would like to get a game a week, but apparently there are not many girls teams in this vicinity.

Manager Cragen on Friday looked up for Feb. 7, Mr. Harvey's Newport R. I. team for a game here. This team defeated Dover easily on Thursday evening and outside of the Springfield Vt. team they are rated the fastest in New England. To secure this game Cragen had to give them a guarantee enough to bring them up from Newport R. I. They are worth the extra money and the fans will make up the difference in the number who attend.

The game between the High school and the Somersworth High was not played on Friday afternoon as announced. There was some hitch in the plans.

Next week the High school has two games. On Wednesday they play Dunsmuir Academy at Dunsmuir and on Saturday play the Bridgewater High school here.

Building 88 at the Navy Yard have announced a game on Wednesday night with the Howard A. C. of Bath, Me., who are reported to be a very fast outfit.

LOOKING THEM OVER WITH THE SPORT FAN

The so-called army and navy championship wrestling match between Harry Katron of Portland, overseas champion, and claimant of the welter-weight title, and Arlene Janet of Utica, N. Y., U. S. navy middleweight champion, staged at the Exposition building, Portland, recently, proved a fizzle, as the police stopped the bout after Katron had butted Janet out of the ring and slammed him in the jaw on his return.

The bout between Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee in Jersey City on February 3 is entered in the ability of the world's lightweight champion to score a knockout. These old rivals have boxed numerous limited round bouts for the entertainment of New York ring followers and both have kept their feet. But this time, Leonard, according to the gossip, will try to end the prolonged controversy by landing a sleep walker before the eighth round is over.

Waino Ketonen, the middleweight wrestling champion of the world who will meet Bill Dryden in this city Monday night, has been in the wrestling business for fourteen years. In the champion, Dryden will meet a man who has won from every middleweight of importance in the country. Ketonen wrestled here last winter, winning from Dryden after one of the toughest matches of the season.

HAVE YOU SCROFULA?

Now Said to Be as Often Acquired as Inherited.

It is generally and chiefly indicated by eruptions and sores, but in many cases it enlarges the glands of the neck, affects the internal organs, especially the lungs, and if neglected may develop into consumption.

It causes many troubles, and is aggravated by impure air, unwholesome food, bad water, too much heat or cold, and want of proper exercise. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the medicine that has been used with so much satisfaction by three generations, is wonderfully successful in the treatment of scrofula. Give it a trial.

If a cathartic or laxative is needed, take Hood's Pills, there is nothing better for biliousness or constipation.

of the recent basketball game in this city between the Portsmouth Navy Yard and Dover teams hands out the following "bull":
"The Dover players after procuring a lead which they felt sure was a comfortable margin proceeded to enjoy a little passage practice at the expense of the Portsmouth team and this did not appeal strongly to the Portsmouth fans who hollered continuously as the fast Dover five administered a "showing up" as the locals term it. Stan Carroll, Dewey Carroll and Miller were used in the lineup to advantage and looked good at all times."

The deciding match between Tommy Riley of Biddeford, and Young Gavvin of Somersworth which the American Legion of Dover planned to stage as the opening attraction on their boxing program to be conducted in the near future in that city, will not take place. The Legion management claims that when the match was first discussed both Riley and Gavvin appeared perfectly willing to meet in Dover for a guarantee of $125 each. The promoters claim that Riley in all willing to go through with the agreement but that Gavvin now wants $150 to meet Riley. The Dover promoters are now looking up a fast boy to go against Riley.

Wladislaw Zbyszko tells of a time when he met his brother Stanislaus in the final match of a wrestling tournament held in Paris: "I was only 10 years old then," says Wladislaw, "but I thought I was the greatest wrestler in the world, so I entered the tournament with my brother and many other famous grapplers. To my chagrin, when the posters advertising the tournament were printed the names of the stars appeared at the top in such large letters while mine was in small type near the bottom, where the third-raters were listed. I determined that before the tournament was over my name too, would be in large type, and I was. I defeated all my opponents, and Stanislaus also conquered everyone he met, until finally only we two remained unbeaten. The managers of the tournament insisted that we engage in a match but each of us was determined not to try to beat the other. Finally we compromised and agreed to give an exhibition. The spectators were notified of our decision and the match was well received, particularly by our mother, who viewed it from a vantage point close to the ring."

TREASURES WORTH $750,000 LOST IN ART GALLERY FIRE

New York, Jan. 30.—Art treasures valued at $750,000 were destroyed today in a fire which swept thru the annex of the American Fine Arts Building in West Fifty-seventh street. While the fire was raging 1100 students, including 200 young women, marched in safety from the neighboring building of the Art Students' League.

The annex, a three-story brick structure was wrecked. Contents of adjoining buildings, including Osborne Hall, a fashionable apartment hotel, were damaged by water. The total loss is expected to exceed $1,000,000. Most of the burned treasures were in the Vanderbilt gallery exhibit.

In addition to the Vanderbilt paintings, a number from the Morgan and Rockefeller collections were destroyed by the fire. An exhibition of the Architectural League, which was to have begun Feb. 1, was destroyed. This included the work of some of the city's foremost architects.

The Fine Arts Building is the home of the National Academy of Design. The first breakfast to reach the Klondike sold for $18 a pound.

TO HOLD TRAPSHOOT THIS AFTERNOON

If weather conditions permit this afternoon there will be a practice shoot at the Portsmouth Country Club traps. It is expected that one or two of the professionals will be here for the afternoon, and that there will be a good number of shooters out. The road into the Club has been broken out and snow shoveling and skiing parties have been held at the club.

CAN'T LOCATE BODY OF DOG

Dover, Me., Jan. 31.—Since the removal of remains of Dr. Lowell's dog from the Dover tomb efforts to locate its present whereabouts are futile. Undertaker Arthur Hall refuses to discuss the matter and in answer to a direct question, he replied, "The body of the dog has been left with a friend of the doctor's."

Considerable criticism has been directed against Sexton M. F. Martin for allowing the dog's remains to be placed in the tomb, but Sexton Martin says he knew nothing of it until he saw the story in the newspapers. He says Mr. Hall called him by phone and asked him to clear away the snow as a body was to arrive on the morning train.

Mr. Martin says he went to the train but as he saw no casket taken from the baggage car he returned home and heard nothing further from the undertaker. Mr. Hall has a key to the tomb and can open it at any time he sees fit.

AIR SERVICE BILL ATTACKED

Washington, Jan. 30.—The new bill to create a separate department of the air encountered further vigorous opposition in the senate today, Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, leading the attack against the measure on the ground of extravagance.

Urging its passage Chairman Wadsworth of the military committee asserted that the next great war involving this country would be ushered in with an air battle off the coast and warned the senate to prepare against the day.

The first year book was published by tabularis in 1533.
